Clinical Education

We regularly provide continuing education for all clinical Team Members. This includes classes in CPR certification, nursing orientation, clinical systems instruction, and residency programs for registered nurses who have just completed their college training or are interested in a new specialty.

Our Nursing Culture

Jean Watson's Theory of Human Caring is the theoretical template for nursing at Memorial University Medical Center. Our model encompasses a nursing vision and philosophy, shared governance, core values, and practice standards. Together, these elements provide the framework for unit-based care delivery models.

Shared Governance

Our shared governance model aligns nursing with the organization's overall goals and empowers all nurses to play an important role in our corporate strategic plan. Under shared governance, nurses have input regarding the policies and issues that affect their daily practice.

Nursing Center of Excellence

Our Nursing Center of Excellence is a space set aside just for nurses. It includes a conference room, a computer resource and research room, and plenty of meeting space. We display scholarly works by our nurses in the center and provide an atmosphere where nurses can work or relax.

Clinical Ladders

Memorial University Medical Center values nurses at all skill levels. We also recognize that many of our nurses have career advancement goals, and we want to help them meet those goals. Our professional nursing ladder helps nurses grow and advance professionally while focusing on their clinical practice.
